BLOOD DONOR CLINIC AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH MONDAY, NOV. 14

The next blood donor clinic in Bethel is Monday, Nov. 14. Workers and donors are needed to help this area fill its quota.

You can donate if you are in basic good health; between the ages of 17-65; have never had viral hepatitis, heart disease, cancer, weigh at least 110 pounds; and has not donated in the last eight weeks.

Last November Bethel had a tremendous drive and over 120 people came in to donate. Still another 25 people helped by calling donors or worked the day of the drive. The need for blood is still up, so let's see if that record can be bettered this year.

If no one has contacted you, please call Dee Dee Kellogg, 824-2008, for an appointment time or walk in between 2 and 7 p. m., Monday, Nov. 14, at the Congregational Church. Baby sitting will be available.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY HEARS OF CIVIL WAR ERA BETHEL

It is often interesting to discover what was going on in a small town while the nation faced a major crisis. So it is with the inquiry as to what Bethel was like during the Civil War (1861-1865) and what impact the conflict had upon the town. This was the topic addressed by Bethel Historical Society Director Stanley R. Howe, who spoke Thursday evening, Nov. 3, at the monthly meeting of the Society.

Based on census data for 1860 Howe described some of the observations that could be made from this source. The population in 1860 was 2523, the highest level it has ever achieved. There were 475 households in Bethel in 1860 with four houses vacant. The average size of the household was five persons and the average age was 26.

Only three adults could neither read nor write. Most people in 1860 were farmers, 1766 to be exact, but there was an important group of tradesmen (including 17 blacksmiths) and a significant number of professionals (eight clergymen, three lawyers, five doctors, one dentist, 28 teachers). Among the more unusual occupations listed was one horse jockey. Most people in Bethel (87%) at the time were born in Maine. Other places of birth were New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Ireland, Vermont, New York, Nova Scotia, Canada, England, Cuba, Connecticut, New Brunswick, Kentucky, Ohio, Scotland and Georgia.

Howe indicated that sources of information are somewhat limited for this era. At the moment no diaries of people living in Bethel at the time are known to exist and only a few letters. One useful source Howe pointed out however are the records of the Ladies Union Aid Society which existed in Bethel between the years 1861-1863 and give an important picture of relief work on behalf of the war effort. Another extensive source is the Oxford Democrat which included a regular column by Dr. Nathaniel T. True who was a keen observer of the Bethel scene, although, cautioned Howe, one should always be aware of the limitations of a single viewpoint.

Howe cited other sources including photographs and artifacts, many of which are in the collections of the Bethel Historical Society as particularly useful. The Society Director indicated that it was nearly impossible to gauge sentiment concerning the causes of the Civil War, the level of abolitionist sentiment (if any) or the climate of opinion regarding the firing upon Fort Sumter. But he did note that Enoch Foster, a prominent Bethel attorney and later a justice of the Maine Supreme Judicial Court had a book containing a defense of slavery in his library.

Apparently according to Howe there was leadership in Bethel to organize men for possible participation in the hostilities very early in 1861. Among the leaders in this effort were Dr. True himself, Clark S. Edwards and Gideon A. Hastings.

As the war dragged on Howe was able to provide many insights into the impact of the war upon the town, musters, war news of men killed, wounded or suffering in a Confederate prison. There were rallies, speeches to whip up Union sentiment and reports of people in Bethel advocating a peaceful settlement of the war without total victory (what the Oxford Democrat considered a "treasonous" position). There was criticism of the conduct of the war by Bethel people. And there were reports of events with happy endings, of men presumed dead, returning in order to be able to read their own obituaries.

The town itself changed during this period with the arrival of a great many diversified business, apparently high priority in agriculture (particularly in the growing of hops), and the construction of large hotels and boarding houses to take care of the large numbers who began to come to Bethel during the summer months. The Civil War years according to Howe were ones of great religious revivalism in Bethel, of strong interest in the temperance cause, of great political activity (the dominance of the new Republican party among those holding town offices) and of increasing industrialization with the building of the Steam Mill complex in what is today the Skillington section of Bethel.

Howe concluded his remarks by noting that of the 180 men from Bethel who fought in the war just over 50 of them were living in town in 1870 according to census records. The war undoubtedly, noted Howe, had opened up new horizons to a majority of these men and they went elsewhere to re-establish lives disrupted.

During the business portion of the meeting President Donald G. Bennett, noted that the artifact of the month was a copy of the General catalog of Bowdoin College, 1794-1950, the gift of Annie Hastings. President Bennett also announced that the next meeting will be Dec. 1 and will be the traditional Christmas meeting where those attending will be asked to bring in something from the past relating to Christmas. Mr. Bennett announced that the 1984 calendars are now available and urged anyone interested to pick one up. A life membership certificate was presented to Trustee Persis Post.

Refreshments and a social hour followed the program.

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —

Here's a crazy sounding yarn which is true, but I can't give names nor are the details as I don't know them or know exactly who did what. It involves four New Hampshire hunters, each of whom tagged the same deer. The first one reported his success to the local warden but did not bring home the animal because of the lateness of the hour. The next day it was gone and a second hunter had removed the first tag and put his name on the buck. A third hunter got involved, had his picture taken with this 240 lb. buck and reportedly spooked. Somehow a fourth hunter got involved and this one deer got weighed in twice, tagged four times, got thrown away in a James River chip-pile, got back to the hunter which shot it, may possibly be the means of large fine money to the Fish and Game Department, and, as one said, gotten more mileage deceased than he ever did alive.

And we get dubbed sleepy because of lack of bustling shopping malls, theatres and museums!

A small amount of snow followed the heavy rainfall. The moisture was welcome as the water table was low and many were concerned about wells and springs at winter approaches. The crystallization on fences and trees was beautiful. The tamaracs are at their heights and top dogs of the forest beauty.

Ellen Heywood is reported as out of the hospital but not enjoying the best of health yet. It was poor hunting Saturday but at least our success is hanging outside the former Dr. Abbott home on this road.

Were you thinking of me Alice or was that a printer's error?

Our thoughts and prayers go out to you Bertha and hope you are much better now.

We've been missing out on Fred Werner's column lately. How come?

Helen, I lost your address when I lost my pocketbook, missed your visit when you came to Maine, or did your plans change? I'm looking forward to a note and crafty clipping and your current address.

Jeff Yates broke a lag on his tractor while it was quite a ways in the woods. The men were able to get it out with a three-wheeler in spite of the mud. The Scouts have had guests from Massachusetts celebrating their 25th anniversary. Also Julia Scott is spending some time with them.

EAST ANDOVER COMMUNITY CLUB NOTES 45th YEAR

The East Andover Community Club, founded in Nov. 1938 as "the Home and Garden Club," noted their 45th anniversary on Nov. 1 at the home of vice president, Glenna Allen.

Three of the six charter members are still living. Lila Farrington, Rumford; Muriel Farrington and Violet Swain. In Dec., 1938, there were 23 members. Charlotte Sennett, Edna White and Violet Swain are still members. Of the 23, nine are deceased; seven live out of town or state, and four dropped out as the years passed by.

The object of this club is to help the community and other projects. This includes the two local Sunday Schools and Hope Training School. Other activities include: coming bearing all Andover Telstar seniors at graduation; giving an award to a deserving senior; remembering all community residents over 70 at Easter; giving flowers and sunshine boxes at various times; Baby gifts to first babies born after the parents move to East Andover and many other community projects.

The fun part of the meetings are the pot luck suppers and the Secret Pals.

Meetings are held once a month and 15 members are the limit of membership, due to entertaining at private homes. Mrs. Swain has held the office of secretary for 30 years and Barbara Meisner has been treasurer for 19 years. The present president is Elvira Jones; 1st vice pres., Glenna Allen; 2nd vice pres., Phyllis Farrar. Other members not mentioned are Marjorie Stinson, Lorena Simmons, Ethelene Merrill, Mary Bailey, United Tucker, Evelyn Bell, Mary Thurston, Sandra Clement.

Our thoughts and prayers go out to you Bertha and hope you are much better now.

HISTORY OF WOODSTOCK HIGHLIGHTS FROM WOODSTOCK HISTORICAL SOC.

Here are some of the highlights of William Berry Lapham's History of Woodstock. It is presently being sold at the Whitman Memorial Library. At least one copy should be in every Bryant Pond household.

Christopher and Solomon Bryant Jr. first came to the area about 1797.

Biggs, Whitman, Owens, Berry, Thurlow, Chase, Ricker, Fuller, Bartlett and Nason were names of some of the Town's earliest settlers.

The closest thing to a town meeting (a plantation meeting) was held about 1812.

The town fathers first wanted to call Bryant Pond Sparta, but the Commonwealth of Massachusetts granted incorporation in 1815 under the name of Woodstock, hence the date we usually celebrate as the founding of Woodstock.

The Temperance Movement was very strong and one of Bryant Pond's most distinguished citizens, Governor Sidney Perham, was a staunch temperance man and prominent Universalist.

BETHEL TOWN OFFICE

The Board also heard the Manager's report of discussions with the Bethel Inn's manager, Ray Moran, on steps to be taken to improve safety on the narrow Mill Hill extension road in front of the Inn before voting to amend the Town's Traffic Ordinance to make the edge of the Common a "no parking, tow away" zone. "No parking" signs have been posted (and ignored) in the area for several months and this action will clear the legalities permitting strict enforcement, which will begin immediately. Other safety factors are awaiting additional inputs from the Bethel Inn.

In other action, the Board concluded an agreement with the L. E. Davis Lumber Co. Inc., to extend the time for cutting rights on the recently cleared airport land. A report from the Municipal Facilities Committee was accepted regarding refurbishing the Main Street facade of the Cole Block. Based on historical and engineering studies of the building, its setting and its use by the architect and Landmarks Inc. as well as informal citizen input, the Board voted to paint the facade in the colors of cream with brown trim. Also the Selectmen accepted with regret the resignation, effective Dec. 31, of Dianne Hunt as Animal Control Officer.

Ambulance Service Future Discussed

In a major event of the Board meeting, a large delegation of Ambulance Service personnel led by Coordinator Florence Merrill and Health Center representatives including Dr. Williams, Shirley Powell and Jan Whitworth, met with the Selectmen to discuss ways and means to keep ambulance service available to Bethel citizens after Dec. 31, 1983, when anticipated resignations will decrease qualified attendants to about one-third the number needed. Simply stated, volunteers have not responded sufficiently to permit continuation of existing service levels, according to Ms. Merrill. Also because a new budget must be implemented on Jan. 1, 1984, alternatives must be chosen within the next month and one-half. The Board designated Ms. Merrill and the Manager as a fact-finding team to investigate details of the Town contracting with a private Characterizing the meeting as constructive, Board Chairman Arlan Jodrey complimented the BEARS for their dedicated service and their helpful comments at the meeting, thanking everyone for their attendance.

The Bethel Church of the Nazarene will be holding their annual Thanksgiving dinner at the church on Nov. 19. Guests are welcome.

The book fair committee invites all students, parents and visitors to attend the fair. The fair will encourage student interest in reading and help in building home libraries.

The book fair will include attractive new books from many publishers in all popular price ranges—wonderful books to read or give as gifts. All reading interests will be represented, including classics, fiction, biographies, adventure stories, science, nature, crafts, mystery and reference books. The committee is working with Educational Reading Service, a professional book fair company, to furnish a wide selection of books for the fair.

to have Jim playing background music on the grand piano during dinner as well as entertaining at the piano bar in the evening.

Jim's musical talent ranges from ragtime, Dixieland, show tunes, pop and semi-classical to a seemingly endless list of old-time favorites. As a matter of fact, Jim is so receptive to guests that he was heard playing a college fight song medley when challenged to do so.

While Bethel is a long way from Jim's birthplace of Chatham, England, he is not a stranger to the United States as he moved to Detroit, Mich., when he was 26. He began playing the piano when he was 10 and living in Canada and recently played in most of the major hotels in the Detroit area.

Jim is also an avid scuba diver and cross-country skier. He is featured at the Bethel Inn through November.

ENTERTAINING AT THE INN
—From show tune favorites to college fight songs and golf, there doesn't seem to be anything Jim Stoner can't play. It may not be unusual to find a pianist who can also sink an 11 foot putt—except, perhaps, when he is Jim Stoner, who is blind.

Hailed by Buddy Freeman as "an exceedingly good jazz pianist," he has also performed with Stevie Wonder. Now the Inn is thrilled

Letter to the Editor

Nov. 2, 1983

On the evening of Nov. 1, a Special Town Meeting vote of 17-9 changed the Town's accounting year to July 1-June 30, with property taxes due in two installments (Aug. 15 and Feb. 15) instead of one yearly tax payment in November.

I wonder if the taxpayers of Bethel have considered the economic impact of the proposed changeover? For those who put aside money each month for taxes (either through a mortgage escrow account or family savings account), a 17% increase would be required between November and April in order to accumulate six months' taxes in five months and a 33% increase would be required between April 15 and Aug. 15 to produce six months' taxes in four months. This amounts to an overall tax increase for 1984 of 25%.

(After Aug. 15, tax savings would drop back to the normal amount again.) For teachers, whose fiscal year runs from Sept. 1 to Aug. 31, this changeover plan would require paying two years' taxes from one year's salary.

Would this 24% tax increase for 1984 come back to us in future savings on the tax rate? No. The Town Manager and Selectmen agreed that there was no guarantee of a lower tax rate as a result of this change.

A concerned citizen,
Mary Valentine

GREENSTOCK SNOW SPORTS

HOLDS TURKEY SHOOT NOV. 6 Greenstock Snow Sports of Greenwood and Woodstock held their first annual turkey shoot Sunday, Nov. 6. The turn out was heavy and everyone reported a good time.

Randall Herrick and Missy Young came in at a tie, so a final shoot out had to take place. Randall was the victor. President Rick Young stated that Randall could even send to the firearms company for a rebate on the rifle.

Winners of turkeys were Ben Arsenault, Alfred McKenna, Gordon Murphy, Diddy Johnson, Travis Buck and Scott Billings. Green-stock plans to make this a yearly affair, with next year a possible running deer target.

Greenstock is an up and coming snow machine club in the towns of Greenwood and Woodstock. In the first year of organization they have bought and constructed four trail drags, with the help of Greenwood Recreation Committee; bought a twin track snow machine for dragging trails; opened and received written permission for 75 miles of snow machine and cross country ski trails; obtained funds from the state and towns of Greenwood and Woodstock for maintenance of trails and bridges;

and participated in the Rum-ford Ride-in for related persons.
They plan to Ride-In to Rumford
in February, 1984.

Greenstock is looking forward to a real "snow busting" season and looking for some hard riding snowmobilers to join them for a lot fun and hard work. For information call 875-5985 or 665-2063.

Swan's Corner

Sent in by Viva Whitman:

Monday and Halloween with all the witches and goblins and goblins. Wondered how many would call on us and were rather surprised and also disappointed to have only one caller that evening. Darnita Yates brought her little girl, Eva, to see us and guess what? She brought us a bag of candy to celebrate with. I thought that was quite a nice turn about. We also gave her a bag of candy and had plenty left to snack on. Didn't quite seem like Halloween without more ghosts and goblins calling.

I had gone to town that morning to do the wash. Have to have a clean pair of socks once in a while. Russell had been cleaning and packing while I was gone, then went to Harrison. Don't want the cars to get too cold from not using them and I guess there is no danger. My back had decided to act up, so couldn't do what I needed to do. That's why the trip to Harrison.

However, that wasn't enough. Did a lot of walking Tuesday to try to limber it up without success. Russell tore down his cold frame where he had started plants in the Spring as it was supported by part of a stairway he made for me several years ago when I had a mobile home. He figured it would give him a start toward a new pair of steps which we are going to need. Bryce called for a few minutes and took a load of wood home with him during the afternoon.

We have had some rather cool and frosty mornings but lucky enough to have it warm up some during the day. Wednesday, I had to give in and get some help from a doctor for my back. Hadn't had muscle spasms, like I was having, for years and hope I don't have the misfortune to have it happen again. We stopped at a restaurant for a sandwich before coming home and as I was walking along, I dropped my cane. Thank the Lord for the nice young lady who got out of her car and picked it up for me. I appreciated it more than she will ever know as I just couldn't bend down.

Russell went to town Thursday morning to see the doctor out here as well as a few other errands, then took me to Rumford again for another treatment. Wasn't much good to pack things last week so hope this one is better. Every chance he gets, Russell starts cleaning and packing. What a job! Mother believed in keeping just about everything in case she wanted it at a later date as most of us do and the time has come to clean up, so Russell is really busy deciding most of the time what and what not to. If he keeps on though, he'll have it done in good order.

Friday was a wet, drizzly, rainy day and not even good for ducks, but had to go to Fryeburg just the same. Came home by way of Norway and West Paris where we left a few more things at Lawrence's place.

Got a call from Peggy in the evening saying that she and Loreta had gotten to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and were at their daughter Kaye's home where they will stay for a few days and then Loreta will fly home on Monday. They had a good trip down and were glad to be there. We hope Peggy has a good winter there and re-

(Tri-Town Ambulance & Emergency Rescue Service)

The Tri Town Auxiliary is planning a dance on Saturday, Nov. 19, at the Woodstock Elementary School Gym. See article for more information.

Tri Town members express their deepest sympathy to their coordinator, Merle King, on the death of his brother in Turner.

The next board of directors meeting is scheduled for Thursday night, Nov. 17, at the home of Mildred York.

Safety Tip of the Week
Hunting season is now upon us. Remember for hunters, fluorescent orange is very visible in the woods. Be sure you are not mistaken for a deer. Others wanting to use the woods during hunting season, wear fluorescent orange that is very visible. Make noises so hunters will hear you and not shoot you. A cow bell or a whistle makes a good noise. And a dog should be kept tied, especially during hunting season.

members to say "Hi" to all my old and dear friends. Decided I'd better do a little cooking Saturday as the cookie jar was about empty. Russell did some cleaning and packing. It is so unbelievable how much stuff one collects through the years. The time you find out is when you decide to move and then you really wonder how you got so much stuff collected.

Sunday was a cloudy day but didn't rain here as it had Friday and Saturday. Bryce and Barbara Yates had dinner with us. It was good to have them come, also Darnita and Eva called for a short while. We always enjoy having company and don't intend for them to go away hungry. I hope the weather will hold good until we get moved to our new home. One can never depend on it at this time of year, but we are keeping our fingers crossed. We will miss being at Swan's Corner, but will get adjusted after a while. I haven't lived here too long, but have enjoyed the good neighbors and the country side here. We expect to have a nice home beside our brother Lawrence on High Street in West Paris. Russell says it is Yatesville there as Lawrence's two sons and a daughter live close by. We will add another Yates' home there. Anyway, if any of you nice folks want to come visit when we get moved, I hope you will. I'll call you a little more about the home next time. Got to get going and get some work done, so until next time, take care.

Oh, yes, I was going to say, Russell says when the leaves go from the old oak tree outside the house here, you can expect cold weather to follow soon. That wind and rain took most of the leaves and the trees sure look rather naked but hope the weather will hold just for us.

North Paris

— Eveline B. Vatcher, Corres. —

I hope everyone has a well full of water after our two days of cold, windy rain. A poor beginning for the hunting season. But we do need the water before the ground freezes for the winter.

The hunters came home from Moosehead Wednesday evening. Harlan Abbott had a large doe, Sayward Lamb had two partridge and Joe Vatcher came home empty-handed. They traveled 80 miles on a dirt road, so the truck and trailer were mud encrusted. They met Wesley McAllister, West Paris, who was there hunting with two friends.

Eveline Vatcher called on Lula Buck Tuesday morning and took her some blackberries for a pie.

Robert Anderson Sr., of Burlington, Mass., came to his trailer Sunday for two weeks of hunting.

His brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Fiddle, Woburn, Mass., came Thursday to keep him company. They visited their brother-in-law, Joe Vatcher, and Eveline several times also other friends. It's good to get away for a bit.

Several attended the Molykoff Sportsman's meeting, Nov. 5 at the West Paris Legion Hall. Floyd Flagg was the guest speaker and showed a film.

Eveline had only one for trick or treat. A skunk.

Mr. and Mrs. "Root" Lawrence joined Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penley Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Records and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card, Sunday, Nov. 6, for a birthday dinner for Mrs. Helen Emery who was 85 years young and for Carroll Records at Helen's home at Mechanic Falls. They had their usual feast with cake and ice cream for dessert.

Callers at Lawrence's: Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Coffin, Amy, Missy and Deven, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher.

Rhoda Vatcher and Doris Lawrence went to the Senior Citizens Thanksgiving dinner and enjoyed it.

Morton, Marilyn Wheeler, Barbara Wheeler, Eleanor Morton, Chris Lagasse, Sandra Wheeler, Karlene Bachelder, Ruth H. Cummings, Becky Cummings, Helen Morton, Mary Jo Wheeler, Carol Ridlon and Bethany and Patty Grassan and Amanda. Sending gifts but unable to attend were: Sue Wight, Susan Brooke-Bowie, Sylvia Wight, Wendy Hanscom, Eleanor Davis, Gilbert Seely, Louise Tetley, Nancy Wight and Loretta Berry. The beautiful cake was made and decorated by Patty Saunders. Judy received many lovely gifts.

WEST BETHEL Children's Center

The activities at the Center for this week have focussed around body parts. Children have enjoyed making body prints by lying down on butcher paper and being traced. They then fill in their faces, features of the clothes they're wearing, coloring them with magic markers and cutting them out.

Some time has been spent each day learning just a bit about muscles, bones, the functions of the heart and lungs. External parts have been sung about during the "Head-Shoulders-Knees-Toes" exercises and also in playing "Simon Says" at the music circle. In the art room children have been busy making hand prints and painting self-portraits at the easel. Children helped with two cooking activities this week: carrot muffins and English muffin bread.

The "Star of the Week" has been Mandy Wing.

The Parent Group met at the Center on Monday evening, Nov. 7. After an exercise warm-up time, a business meeting was conducted, followed by a general discussion of past field trips and suggestions for future ones.

The volunteers here have been Kathy Laughton, Hazel Wing, Dawn Gross, Linda Smith, Connie Tripp, Debby Fillmore, Cindy Mills, Nina Wheeler, Yvonne Hill, Wendy Annis, Lucy Rogers and Elsie Bonney. Many thanks!

Parents, please be sure to keep your child home if he or she is not feeling well in the morning. This is the season for colds and flu, and the staff likes to take precautions against the spread of infectious germs. Each of you may help by being sure your child is well enough to attend the Center in the morning. Thanks!

The Center will be closed on Friday, Nov. 11, in observance of Veterans Day.

Also on Friday, Nov. 18, there will be NO Head Start; the Center will be open to Day Care only.

MDOT OPENS BIDS FOR IMPROVEMENTS TO RT. 219 IN WEST PARIS

The Maine Department of Transportation is planning to improve a section of Route 219 in West Paris. Bids on the project were opened Wednesday, Nov. 2, in Augusta. The low bid of $553,149.75 was submitted by The Bridge Construction Corp., Augusta.

The project area begins at the intersection of Routes 28 and 219 at Trap Corner and extends east for 1.4 miles.

Within the project area, work will be divided into two sections. For the first 800 feet east of Route 28, the gravel roadside shoulders will be paved and the present roadway surface will be repaved. From there to the end of the project, the existing roadway will be rebuilt. Work will include grading and shaping of a new roadway base, installation of necessary drainage, and placement of a hot bituminous concrete surface to create a finished roadway carrying two 11-foot travel lanes with six-foot paved shoulders.

While the new roadway will follow the basic path of the existing roadway, changes in horizontal and vertical alignments will be made to improve sight distances and provide a smoother ride. Those changes will include reconstruction of the intersection of Route 219 with the Abbot Road and the Morse Hill Road to provide improved sight distances at that intersection.

Final timetables for work on this project will be developed by MDOT and the contractor.

FRIEDEN DORF OPEN HOUSE AT BRYANT POND NOV. 13

Frieden Dorf Pottery, located on Main Street in Bryant Pond, will be holding an open house from 1-5 p. m. on Sunday, Nov. 13. The public is invited.

Stoneware pottery by Fay Corrin, Frieden Dorf owner, will be on display in the shop. Fay makes a wide variety of useful and decorative items, including bowls, mugs, pitchers, baking dishes, lamps, and candle holders. She has been involved with pottery for 18 years.

In addition to Fay's work, the open house will feature the hand-built and wheel-thrown creations of her three apprentices, who live and work full-time at the studio, take part in all phases of Fay's pottery production, including design, throwing on the potter's wheel, glazing, firing, and marketing.

Martha Hulsman came to Frieden Dorf after studies in ceramics at Plymouth State University and Rhode Island School of Design. Although she has already had a great deal of pottery experience, Martha will be better able to focus on the discipline of production throwing during her apprenticeship.

Jenn Spock graduated from Yale as a Russian Studies major and has recently studied in Leningrad. She taught pottery handbuilding for five years before college, and is now learning to throw on the potter's wheel at the studio.

Debbie Rollins is a Dartmouth College graduate from Shapleigh. Although the nine months she has spent as an apprentice at Frieden Dorf comprise her total experience with clay, Debbie plans to continue making pottery and hopes to have a studio of her own.

Fay Corrin and her apprentices will be on hand at the open house to answer questions, and throwing demonstrations will be given. Fay's daughter, Tanya, will also have her "girl" statues and "weed plaques" on display, and her sons Greg and Laren will show their "monsters" and "bubble gum holders."

Refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcome!
